This is the look of empowerment.

Women in impoverished villages worldwide are up against enormous odds -- including violence and threats of violence -- yet find the courage to step forward as leaders. Given the opportunity, they will bring their hunger to an end.

The Hunger Project is all about providing that opportunity.

We ask the right questions, like "what's missing?" for these courageous women to succeed. By empowering women as the key change agents in rural communities, over 35 million people in 13 countries now have the opportunity to move from abject poverty to self-reliance.

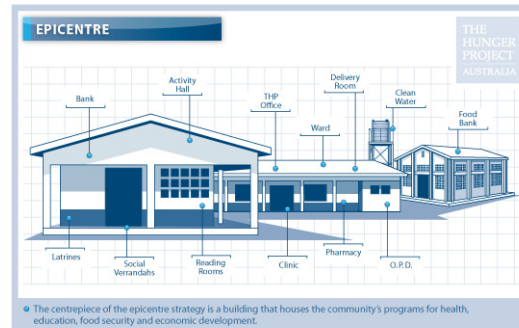

This urgent quest needs your partnership. Learn how you can participate as villages gain optimism, self-respect and the self-reliance to provide for themselves and thrive for generations to come.

Go to www.thp.org or call (212) 251-9100.
